

Bachelor of Business Administration Langston University-Tulsa

Advisor: Hossein Sarjeh Payma, Ph.D. (918) 877- 8141, hsarjehpayma@langston.edu

Program Overview

The Business Administration major is a flexible degree program developing the skills and abilities necessary to assume the duties of administrative positions in private, public and nonprofit entities by completing courses work in several functional areas of business.

Students may select courses from several business administration areas to build their major area of concentration. Courses in accounting, economics, management, marketing and finance are just a few of the many that may be selected to develop an emphasis.

Business Administration is one of the most popular majors in the School of Business because of the flexibility and the many career opportunities. The major provides knowledge, skills and competencies to prepare individuals for work as administrators in a variety of organizations including: health care, manufacturing, financial services, and government enterprises.
